Application submission deadlines appear below. Students are encouraged to apply at least six weeks prior to the deadline. Applicants who submit after the deadline are assessed a $15 late readmission application fee. If applicable, a late registration fees payment charge is also assessed.

Admission Term	Submission Deadline
Fall Quarter	August 15
Winter Quarter	November 25
Spring Quarter	February 25

Application

1. Complete this application and Statement of Legal Residence form (digital or ink signatures required on both), and print one copy of each. An incomplete application, or failure to provide information requested, by the deadline will delay application processing.
2. Applicants who have attended any educational institution (including another University of California campus or University Extension) since their last attendance at UCLA must submit official transcripts from those schools with this application. Action taken on the application is contingent upon receipt and evaluation of these transcripts. Applicants who were admitted to UCLA prior to fall 1988 but who have not been registered at UCLA for the last five years are required to submit official transcripts of all work completed outside UCLA. This is necessary because paper records of nonregistered students, including transcripts submitted for transfer credit, are destroyed five years after the last term of attendance at UCLA.
3. Applicants who are currently enrolled at another school, or who plan to complete additional courses in a regular term or summer session before re-entering UCLA, should attach a separate document with the following information:
   - All courses in which applicant is enrolled (title, number, department, unit value)
   - School at which these courses are being taken
   - Term in which applicant is enrolled

   Credit is not allowed for courses taken at another institution or UC extension but completed after the start of the quarter for which readmission is approved.
4. Send completed application, Statement of Legal Residence, and official transcripts (if applicable) to UCLA Readmission by e-mail to the undergraduate readmission clerk; or by mail to Box 951429, Los Angeles, CA 90095-1429.
5. Upon receipt of application, a $70 nonrefundable, nontransferable readmission application fee is billed to applicant's BruinBill account (accessible through MyUCLA). If applicant was an Academic Advancement Program (AAP) student in the last registered term, the readmission application fee is waived (except for the late fee, if applicable). AAP status is verified by the readmission officer. If applicant is ineligible for the application fee waiver, the fee is billed to applicant's BruinBill account.

After Applying

UCLA notifies applicants of the outcome of their readmission application as follows:

Winter	November

PRIVACY NOTICE All of the information requested on this Statement of Legal Residence is required for determining whether or not you are a legal resident for tuition purposes. Your registration cannot be processed without this information. The Office of the Registrar on campus maintains the requested information. University of California governing residency for tuition purposes are established by the Regents pursuant to and implemented by regulations established by the President, in consultation with the General Counsel (Regents Standing Order 110.2; Regents policies 3105 and 3106). You have the right to inspect University records containing the residence information requested on this form.

Nonresident Supplemental Tuition for Nonresident Students

Students who have not been living in California, with intent to make it their permanent home for more than a year immediately before the residence determination date for each term in which they propose to attend the University, must pay nonresident supplemental tuition in addition to all other fees. The residence determination date is the day instruction begins at the last of the University of California campuses to open for the quarter, and for schools on the semester system, the day instruction begins for the semester. Nonresident students may apply for a change of classification to resident status once all the requirements below have been met. Notice the rigorous financial independence requirements.

Rules Governing Residence

The rules regarding residence for tuition purposes at the University of California are governed by the Standing Orders of the Regents of the University of California. Under these rules, adult citizens and certain classes of aliens can establish residence for tuition purposes. There are particular rules that apply to the residence classification of minors (see below).

Establishing Residence for Tuition Purposes

An adult student may establish residence for tuition purposes in California if a U.S. citizen; a permanent resident or other immigrant; or a nonimmigrant who is not precluded from establishing domicile in the U.S. Nonimmigrants who are not precluded from establishing domicile in the U.S. include those who hold valid visas of the following types: A, E, G-1, G-2, G-3, G-4, H-1, H-4, I, K, L, N-8, N-9, NATO-1 through -7, O-1, O-3, P-1, R, T, U, or V. To establish residence the student must be physically present in California for more than one year; and must have come here with the intent to make California home, as opposed to coming to this state to go to school. Physical presence within the state solely for educational purposes does not constitute the establishment of California residence, regardless of the length of stay.

Establishing Intent to Become a California Resident

The student must demonstrate intent to make California the home state by severing residential ties with the former state or country of residence and establishing those ties with California shortly after arrival. Evidence of intent must be dated one year before the term for which the student seeks residence classification. If these steps are delayed, the one-year duration will be extended until the student has demonstrated both presence and intent for one full year. The student's residence cannot be derived from a spouse or, as an adult, from one's parents. A single undergraduate student must also be financially independent if not dependent on a parent who meets University requirements for California residence for tuition purposes.

Indications of intent to make California the state of permanent residence can include registering to vote and voting in California elections; designating California as the permanent address on all school and employment records, including military records if in military service; obtaining a California Driver License or, if one does not drive, a California Identification Dard; obtaining California vehicle registration; paying California income taxes as a resident, including taxes on income earned outside California from the date residence is established; establishing a California residence in which one keeps one's own personal belongings; and licensing for professional practice in California. Absence of these indicia in other states or countries during any period for which residence is claimed can also serve as an indication of intent. Documentary evidence is required, and all relevant indications are considered in determining classification. Intent will be questioned if the student returns to the former state or country of residence when the University is not in session.

Requirements for Financial Independence (Undergraduates Only)

A student must be financially independent if not dependent on a parent who meets University requirements for California residence for tuition purposes. To be considered financially independent, the student must meet one or more of the following criteria: be at least 24 years of age by December 31 of the academic year for which resident classification is sought; be a veteran of the U.S. Armed Forces or serving in the U.S Armed Forces; be a ward of the court or both parents are deceased; have legal dependents other than a spouse; be married or have a registered domestic partner as of the residence determination date of the term for which resident classification is sought; have been determined to be an unaccompanied youth who was homeless pursuant to federal financial aid rules; demonstrate self-sufficiency for one full year prior to the residence determination date of the term, and not have been claimed as an income tax exemption by parents or any other individual for one tax year immediately preceding the term for which resident classification is sought.

To verify financial independence (self support), the student must document income and verify not being claimed as an exemption by parents or anyone else for one tax year prior to the request for residence. The student also is required to present a budget showing the ability to self support with the funds claimed. Self support is defined as money earned through one's own employment or loans obtained on one's own credit, without a cosigner. A gift or loan from a parent, grandparent, or other family member does not constitute self support regardless of the terms. Bartering for free or reduced (i.e., below market value) room and board is considered financial assistance.

General Rules Applicable to Minors

For unmarried minors (under age 18), the residence of the custodial parent with whom the student lives is considered to be the student's residence. If a parent is living, the student cannot change residence by one's own act, by appointment of a legal guardian, or by relinquishment of the parent's right of control. If the student does not live with either parent, one's residence is that of the parent with whom one last lived. Unless the student is a minor alien present in the U.S. under the terms of a nonimmigrant visa that precludes establishing domicile in the U.S., the student may establish one's own residence when both parents are deceased and a legal guardian has not been appointed. If California residence is derived from a parent, that parent must satisfy the one-year duration residence requirement.

Exceptions to the Rules Applicable to Minors

There are some exceptions to the rules applicable to minors. A minor to whom any of the following circumstances apply may be eligible to be classified a resident for tuition purposes; the minor: has a California resident parent and moves to California to begin residing with that parent prior to one's 18th birthday; parents were California residents who moved to another state, but the minor remained in California and enrolled in a California public postsecondary institution within one year of the parents' departure; self supports and has lived in California for more than one year immediately prior to the term; has been living with and been supported by an adult other than parents for more than two years immediately prior to the term.

Special Circumstances

The following categories of students may be entitled to residence classification: active-duty member of the U.S. Armed Forces stationed in California for noneducational purposes; unmarried dependent children under age 21, spouses, or registered domestic partners of UC faculty members who are also Academic Senate members; unmarried dependent children, spouses, or registered domestic partners of full-time UC employees who are assigned to work outside of California; dependent children of a California resident parent; graduates of a California high school operated by the Federal Bureau of Indian Affairs; credentialed employees of a California public school; amateur student athletes training at the U.S. Olympic Training Center in Chula Vista; dependent or ward of the state through the California child welfare system (foster youth).

Exemptions

The following categories of students may be entitled to an exemption from nonresident supplemental tuition: a student who has been on active duty in the U.S. Armed Forces for a period of more than 30 days, and who meets the requirements set forth in the Higher Education Opportunity Act of 2008; a student who is discharged from the U.S. Armed Forces after having been stationed in California on active duty for at least 366 days; dependent children, stepchildren, spouse, or registered domestic partner of U.S. Armed Forces on active duty more than 30 days stationed in California; certain other members of U.S Armed Forces on active duty; veterans (and their dependents) who were separated from U.S. military service within 36 months of enrolling at UC and are eligible for G.I. Bill (Post-9/11 or Montgomery) program funds; children, spouses, or registered domestic partners of deceased public law-enforcement or fire-suppression employees killed in the course of their official duties, who were California residents at the time of their death; students who attended three full-time years at a California high school (9th grade included), adult school, and community college (maximum of two years)—or attained credits/units earned in California from a California high school equivalent to three or more years of full-time high school coursework, and attended a combination of elementary, middle, and/or high school (K-12) in California for a total of three or more years—and graduated from a California high school (or attained the equivalent), attained an associate's degree from a California community college, or fulfilled minimum transfer requirements from a California community college to a UC campus, except students who are nonimmigrant aliens; recipients of the Congressional Medal of Honor and their children under age 28.

Temporary Absences

Nonresident students who are in the process of establishing residence, and who return to their former home during noninstructional periods, are presumed to be in California solely for educational purposes; only convincing evidence to the contrary can rebut this presumption. Leaving the state for an unforeseen situation, such as a medical emergency, does not preclude a student from being classified as a resident; but the burden of proof is on the student (or the student's parents if the student is a dependent) to provide convincing evidence that nothing inconsistent with the claim of continuing California residence was done during the absence. A student who is in California solely for educational purposes will not be classified as a resident for tuition purposes, regardless of the length of stay. Steps that should be taken to retain a California residence include continuing to use a California permanent address on all records—education, employment, military, etc.; continuing to satisfy California tax obligations (if California residence is claimed, one is liable for payment of income taxes on one's total income from the date that residence in the state is established, including income earned in another state or country); retaining California voter registration and voting by absentee ballot; maintaining a California Driver License and vehicle registration. If it is necessary to change license or vehicle registration, they must be changed back within the time prescribed by law.

Petition for Residence Classification

Current UCLA nonresident students who feel they meet all UC residence requirements may obtain a Petition for Residence Classification. All changes must be initiated at least three weeks before the filing deadline.

Time Limitation to Provide Documentation

If additional documentation is required for residence classification but is not readily accessible, it may be submitted up until the end of the applicable term.

Incorrect Classification/Penalty of Perjury

All statements and documents submitted to the University of California (UC) to support a resident classification for purposes of UC tuition are submitted under penalty of perjury under the laws of the state of California. The student, and parent if applicable, are required to declare under oath, declaration, or affidavit that all statements and supporting documents are true and correct. If an incorrect resident classification is based on concealed facts, false information, or untruthful statements or documents, the student is subject to nonresident classification and is required tp pay all nonresident supplemental tuition and fees that otherwise would have been charged. The student is also subject to University discipline at the discretion of the campus. Resident students who become nonresidents must immediately notify the campus residence deputy.

Contact Information

Questions about residence requirements, determination, and/or recognized exceptions should be directed to the residence deputy, Registrar's Office, 1113 Murphy Hall, Box 951429, Los Angeles, CA 90095-1429, 310-825-1091 option 5. No other University personnel are authorized to supply information regarding residence requirements for tuition purposes. The residence deputy may also be contacted by e-mail for information not found here.

Appeals

Any student, following a final decision on residence classification by the campus residence deputy, may be eligible to appeal in writing to the residency analyst, University of California Office of the General Counsel, 1111 Franklin Street, 8th Floor, Oakland, CA 94607-5200 within 30 days of notification of the residence deputy's final decision.

Students are cautioned that this is not a complete explanation of residence rules. Changes to residence requirements may be made between the publication of this document and the relevant residence determination date.

For more information, see the UC Residence Policy and Guidelines (PDF).
